

Writing Consultation

An important part of your power as an author is that you can ask people for specific feedback for your text (e.g. for its structure). This may include letting them know what you don't want feedback for right now (e.g. for its spelling). So when you send me a sample of your writing for our Writing Consultation, please specify below what you do and do not want feedback for from me.

I would like to have feedback for...

I don't want feedback for...